TrueCISO™ was created to provide a forum for CISO's and CSO's to share issues, ideas, and knowledge and network together in a confidential and expertly facilitated setting.

Through our research, we've found that the term "CISO or CSO Roundtable" is grossly overused, and not at all accurate. We've found that many vendors are touting "CISO Roundtables" that are basically sales pitches for tools, products, or services. The roundtable itself, which is truly of value to the CISO, is not given the attention it deserves. Many of these "CISO Roundtables" don't even have limits on who can participate, as there are often directors, managers, and even technical/operational security practitioners involved with these groups. We've also found that high quality CISO or CSO Roundtables involving ONLY CISO's OR CSO's are not easy to find, not on a set schedule, not professionally facilitated, and not localized.

TrueCISO™ is different. Here's how:

The most important element of TrueCISO™ is the TrueCISO™ Forum. The TrueCISO™ Forum brings only CISO's or CSO's together in a confidential setting to share issues, ideas and knowledge and to advance the role of the CISO overall.

Who:

Only CISO's, or the top security executive in an organization, are allowed to participate. There are no directors, managers, or operational security practitioners in any of our TrueCISO™ Forums. No vendors are allowed, so you will not hear ANY sales pitches. This truly is a CISO-only forum. We match CISO's with other CISO's of similar sized businesses, so they can better relate. We insist on signed Non-Disclosure and Confidentiality Agreements before any CISO can join one of our TrueCISO™ Forums.

What:

TrueCISO™ Forums are expertly facilitated workshops in small group formats (8 CISO's maximum per group). The TrueCISO™ Forum is conducted in a confidential setting and provides an avenue for CISO's to share issues, ideas, and knowledge and build a trusted network of other CISO's.

Where:

TrueCISO™ Forums are held in locations throughout the United States, with new groups forming all the time.

When:

TrueCISO™ Forums are held on a quarterly basis. These are ½ day sessions.

Cost:

Entry into a TrueCISO™ Forum costs $500 annually. The first session is free of charge.
